

Help Moms With Eczema / Atopic Dermatitis

Pregnancy and eczema discoveries are not possible without volunteers like you.

MotherToBaby is currently enrolling pregnant women in an observational study to explore how moderate-to-severe eczema (also known as atopic dermatitis) and its treatment affect pregnancy. All studies are conducted through phone interviews—no changes to your normal routine or travel required. If you've have eczema and are pregnant, you may qualify for this important study.

"There is a huge need to generate more data for all of the drugs that pregnant women need to take."
