

Do You Have Eczema (Atopic Dermatitis)?

Volunteer for a pregnancy study from the comfort of your home.

MotherToBaby is currently enrolling pregnant women in an observational study to learn more about eczema/atopic dermatitis and its treatment during pregnancy. If you join our study, our team will observe your pregnancy and your baby's development for a period of time after birth. Our research is by observation only—we will not ask you to take or change any medications. Plus, you can participate from the comfort of your home.

Better Info about Pregnancy Health Starts with You

We're seeking two groups of participants. If you belong to either of these groups, you could qualify to join us:

Women who have taken DUPIXENT® (dupilumab) during pregnancy.

Women who have eczema/atopic dermatitis and have not taken this medication during pregnancy.

All of our studies include:

1-3 phone interviews during your pregnancy and at least 1 interview after you have your baby. Some studies may have additional interviews.

Your permission to obtain a copy of your and your baby's medical records from your healthcare providers.
