

COVID-19 & PREGNANCY STUDY

REFER YOUR PATIENTS TODAY

We know that pregnant women are contracting COVID-19, but the fact of the matter is that we know very little about its effects on pregnancy, fetal and infant outcomes. Our new observational study will provide this much-needed information.

If you have a patient who has been exposed to or diagnosed with COVID-19 in a current or recent pregnancy, please refer her to our observational research study.

WHO CAN PARTICIPATE?

Women in the United States and Canada with known or suspected COVID-19 infection at any point during a current or recent pregnancy or within 30 days of the last menstrual period before conception.

Questions?
We're here to help!

WHAT IS INVOLVED?

- Participants self enroll
- 1-3 phone calls over the course of the pregnancy and post-delivery
- Release of medical records related to the pregnancy and the infant's development
- In some cases, up to two free optional COVID-19 antibody tests during pregnancy

HOW CAN I REFER?

Call Robert Felix, Outreach Specialist, and Team at (877) 311-8972
or visit
MotherToBaby.org/refer

MotherToBaby
PREGNANCY STUDIES

mothertobaby.org/refer